

Accredited Hospice Care

Comfort and support when you need it most

Comfort and dignity for your loved one. Support and reassurance for you.

At Accredited Health Services, our goal is to ensure that patients with life-limiting illnesses can stay as comfortable and pain-free as possible, so that they can live with dignity and ease. And we recognize that their loved ones need to receive support and reassurance in these most challenging times as well. You see, to us, hospice care is really family-oriented care.

That's why we place such special emphasis on the importance of understanding not just the physical needs but also the emotional and even spiritual needs of the patient and their families. Over the years, this special sensitivity has helped thousands of families through their time of greatest emotional stress.

Sensitive, experienced in-home care

Our Hospice Care aides have been specially trained to provide care for your loved one. But more importantly, their experience in comforting and reassuring both family members and those whom they care for means you will have the support of someone who has “walked in your shoes” many times before.

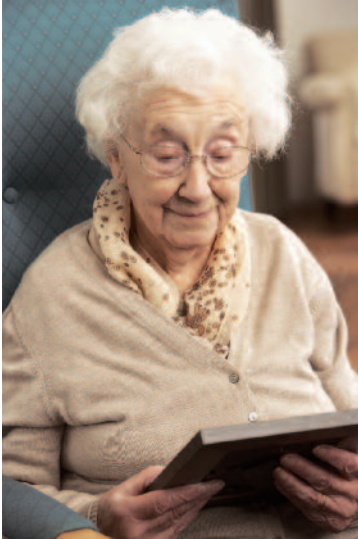

Each Accredited Health Services aide is a member of the Hospice Interdisciplinary Team. So you can rely on them to:

- Offer comfort and supportive care to your loved one
- Rigorously follow the patient plan of care
- Have received orientation to the special needs of each patient
- Be attentive to the patient's nutritional needs
- Promptly respond to the special needs and requests of patients and family members
